THIS volume is a copy of all the Felkirk Parish Church Registers, originals and copies, up to 1812, which are now in the possession of the Vicar of Felkirk—unfortunately, they only begin in 1701, the fate of the older Registers being unknown.

The Registers were kept in various ways, but for easy reference have been uniformly arranged.

In the marriages, a X has been put against the names of those who only made their mark. "New Style," legally beginning 1st January, 1753, was not adopted in the Felkirk Registers until 1st January, 1775, and "Old Style" was reverted to in the Burial Registers in the years 1778-9, and again in 1791-2. During these years, the double date has been given from January 1st to March 25th.

The Terriers and other parochial information in the Registers are printed in full.

There is also a table of contents of each volume of the Registers.

It will be advisable, in all cases where there are two Registers for the same year, to consult both, as sometimes the entries vary. Names in one volume are omitted in the other; the spelling also differs; in these cases, the various spellings, and the collective information the several Registers contain, are fully given.

The following index may be of assistance to those who require to verify any entry with the Registers.

GREENHILL,

MAY, 1894.

Felkirk Parish Registers.

From "The History and Topography of the Deanery of Doncaster, in the Diocese and County of York" by the Rev. Joseph Hunter. (South Yorkshire, Vol. II. pp. 400-420).

THE Church was planted in this wapentake in the first century after the Conquest.

The site is central in respect of the population. But it is still literally the Field-Kirk: a church in the fields, no population having gathered around it. This I take to be the true etymology of the name Felkirk. (There is no village of Felkirk).

The Church of Felkirk was in the hands of the Prior of Nostel in 1120. It must, therefore, have been given to that house immediately on its foundation. The donor was Swein, the son of Ailric.

Catalogue of the Vicars of Felkirk.

Till the Reformation the presentations were by the prior and convent of Nostel, afterwards by the Archbishop of York.

Appeared personally, James Hall of Carlton in the Parish of Royston in the County of York, Butcher, and Eli Downs of Hiendley in the Parish of Felkirk in the said County,

Farmer, and being severally sworn on the Holy Evangelists to depose the Truth, made Oath as follows, And first the said James Hall for himself saith that on or about the Twenty Third Day of February in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Ninety Three, he this Deponent had one child only (a Boy) born to him on the Body of Mary his Wife, at the Township of South Hiendley (where his said Wife Mary then lived with her Father Thomas Downs) in the Parish of Felkirk aforesaid, and which Child was baptized on the first day of April, then next following, in the Presence of this Deponent and others in the Parish Church of Felkirk aforesaid—by The Reverend John George Gibson, Clerk, the then officiating Minister or Curate of the said Parish, by and with the name of Thomas, but by a Clerical Mistake in the Entry of such Baptism in the Parish Register Book of Felkirk aforesaid his name is wrote therein James—instead of Thomas. And the said Eli Downs for himself saith that he was present when the aforesaid Child was baptized and well remembers that he was so baptized and called Thomas and not James—and both these Deponents further say that the said Child who is now living hath always been called and gone by the Name of Thomas and not James.

The said James Hall and Eli Downs } were duly sworn to the Truth of this } Affidavit this Sixth Day of April 1811 }	JAMES HALL ELI DOWNS
